

Charlea J. Adams

(Model)

My name is Charlea (char-lee) Adams. I am 26 years old, discovering my talent for modeling. My love for the arts began in elementary school...picking up the alto saxophone and participating in chorus and plays in and out of school. But it wasn't until 2021 that I discovered the natural knack I have for posing in front of the camera.

When I had my own images published in two magazines, it caused a light bulb to go off. What if I lean into this and see where I could go by putting real intention into it? Throughout the years, my dedicated work ethic has given me valuable experiences with many different hats. But combining passion and purpose, along with business has been the formula I'm still configuring.

Knowing what I know now, I see that modeling can be the avenue for me. To build a brand for myself, as myself. To maximize my earning potential and work experience. Modeling is more than an aspiration...I want to be an inspiration. And explore new heights in a career where the sky is not the limit.
