EXPERIENCE

My very first time acting was in church. Growing up we had different holidays in school and church, during these holidays we would celebrate. For example, for black history month we would find our favorite actor, musician, or doctor. We would act out their life and how they made an impact in the world.

At 17, I attended Jason Mitchells' actor's workshop, The Portal. It was an amazing experience, overall I got to see different people and see their techniques as well. Being a part of his class has taught me a lot, that's where I learned the difference between code reading and improvisation.
