So here's the skinny, I am currently enrolled at the University of Southern California but have taken time off to help my family as well as hone my craft. As I continue to achieve more throughout my journey, I have discovered the depth of artistry I am able to bring to roles as I lean into my creative sensibilities and willingness to collaborate. If I had to describe myself I would say I am confident, dedicated, and disciplined in not just my approach to acting, but my approach to life.
