Summary: Retired Army Colonel with over 28 years of distinguished service, transitioning into a new phase of career exploration as an extra for casting calls in the Atlanta area. Leveraging extensive military experience and a strong background as an executive in the corporate business world supporting the Department of Defense contracting requirements. I bring a wealth of knowledge and a commitment to excellence to every project. Known for results-driven leadership, strategic planning, and exceptional communication skills, I am poised to excel in diverse roles requiring older male talent.

Objective: Seeking opportunities as an extra for casting calls in Atlanta, where I can utilize my retired military background and expertise to contribute authenticity, depth, and versatility to a wide range of productions. As a retired Army officer, I offer a flexible schedule, dedication to professionalism, and a willingness to tackle long days with enthusiasm. Eager to collaborate with industry professionals and bring engaging characters to life on screen.
