Personal Profile

I am a highly creative and imaginative person, with a passion for all things drama, theatre, film and television. I am articulate and enthusiastic with good communication skills and the ability to work well with others. Having studied TV and film for the last six years, I am keen to diversify into acting and performance. Passionate about film and television, I am excited that this is a growth sector in the UK, particularly around Birmingham, my hometown. I display flexibility and am open-minded. I am willing to learn and particularly keen to broaden my knowledge and experience in a professional setting.
