About myself

I have always been a very outgoing, exciting, entraining person. i love adventuring into new things in life and i'm always up for trying new things. i'm a big socializer and love meeting new people and working with different personalities. currently as a hobby i race ATVS and enjoy dirt biking with friends and family, but when winter hits you usually find me on the slopes snowboarding. overall as an individual i like to believe i'm very approachable and always a good time.
