Bold Profile

With a strong foundation in acting and modeling, I am a versatile and dynamic performer who has developed a growth mindset as both a creator and consumer of art. I strive to bring as much authenticity and emotional depth to a performance as possible. I have developed both vocal, physical, and stage techniques to deepen my storytelling and connect with an audience. I build characters consistently and adapt to the limitations and demands of different roles and settings to create memorable performances each time. In fashion and commercial modeling, I offer a cultivated flair for fashion, refined poise, professionalism, and commitment to the project. I have praised for my ability to reinterpret a variety of different archetypes and aesthetics, quickly adapt to a development the artistic team decides on, and work under productive time constraints. As a bilingual English and Spanish speaker, I bring an additional advantage to creative team collaborations in diverse markets and audiences. I am dedicated, dependable, and responsive to important notes, and I put into every opportunity a strong work ethic, confidence, collaborative spirit, and dependability as a person - be it playing in front of a camera, on stage, or in front of the camera lens.

Extracurricular activities

As a 16-year-old, every year I live with curiosity and with a sincere appreciation of learning, creating and connecting- with people, nature, and getting new experiences. Whether it be fencing at the Junior Olympic level, tending to strawberry plants in my gardens, and even simply learning the cobblestones of Europe, I try to find excitement and heart in each and every moment. My interests are as vast as my curiosities, and I make time for each of them to flourish in the year. I love staying active when I am out and about, whether it be swimming, horseback riding, playing a team sport, rock climbing or going kayaking- especially during my trips. I've kayaked clear rivers in North Carolina, and in Italy; hiked mountain trails, actually ski trips have challenged and opened me up. Being in the outdoors is about more than exercise to me; it's how I re-set and reconnect with myself. Europe has my heart, I have traveled to most of Europe- Spain, France and all over Italy where I was born- and some of my fondest memories originate from hiking in the Italian countryside, wandering through historic cities and quaint un-noticed charming villages. I also love to share, and tell friends and family travel tips and highlights. At home, I take pleasure in more quiet, creative endeavors. I bake and cook a lot, constantly searching for newer recipes and techniques. Cooking is something I engage in with friends and family—especially at gatherings when we are standing in the kitchen laughing together. I also love to grow herbs, vegetables, and fruits in my garden. At the moment, I am tending to hibiscuses flowers, blooming roses, and juicy strawberries, each representing the care, patience, and attentive love I have given them. These moments remind me of how much we all have to offer one another. Having finally taken time to engage in mindfulness-based practices like yoga and pilates, I now blend the busyness of my life with meaningful moments of peace and reflection. I live as fully and with intention as possible. Whether I'm on stage, hiking up a mountain trail, or simply planting flowers in the sun. There is always something to be passionate about each day - and that is what makes each year meaningful, enjoyable, and fun.

Creativity manifests in many other aspects of my life than just food! Drawing, painting and crafting help me share my feelings and emotions, while interior design and fashion, allow me to explore style and aesthetically pleasing arrangements. Acting, and theater in general, embodies all of those aspects: performance, emotion, narrative, and transformation. I love the challenge of becoming a character, and being able to use my voice and body to engage and connect with an audience.

Giving back is a large part of my year, and so important. Volunteering at shelters for the homeless, and women, as well as, animal shelters, participating in programs for youth development, and volunteering for a variety of community cleanups are all things I have a passion for, and provide me with the most valid meaning. I love working with others to try to do good in the world, whether that's painting a mural, sorting donations, or simply being physically present for someone and providing support.
