Bio:

Born and raised in North Carolina as Johnathon James Crosson but go by stage name “Yanny”. I started traveling to California in June 2016 for acting and career purposes for about 8 years learning the ends and outs as I came and went and made it my home the year of 2025. I am a professional that brings a range of practical skills and experience to every project that I am booked on from background work to lead roles. I have been cast in a variety of roles, meeting project needs and providing consistent results. With a well-rounded approach to new challenges and tasks I am adaptable across different project styles, settings, and environments as well as diversity. I believe with every opportunity comes great success.
