

LaShania Davis

LaShania Davis is a proud Compton native and graduate of California State University, Los Angeles with a bachelor's degree in marketing. As graduate student at Pepperdine University, she is currently working on her master's degree in leadership and organizational change while also working as a television & film development professional at Hallmark Media - Mahogany.

Her platform Sisters-Sheltering-Sisters is an initiative geared towards educating the public on the pipeline of potentially being unhoused to officially being homeless with the strong emphasis to eradicate the term "homeless". The platform evokes change in the community by distributing both digital and physical resource kits.

An avid rock climber, competitive public speaker, and lover of dance, LaShania is also a decorated scholar who has earned numerous awards and honors throughout her life. Among those honors is the Housing Right Certification, Kwame Ture & Winnie Mandela Scholarship, MESA Regional Speaking Award and more. Miss Davis aspires to build an empire and use her tenacious personality to continue advocating for fair and equal housing across the state of California and beyond.
