LOCATION & AVAILABILITY

- Based in Nairobi, Kenya
- Flexible for international travel
- Open to both short-term and recurring on-camera roles

EDUCATION & CREDENTIALS

- BSc in Mass Media & Communication
- Google Certified in Data Analytics & Project Management

BACKGROUND & INTERNATIONAL EDGE

Born and raised in Kenya, I've also lived in the UK, USA, and Germany, making me globally fluent and uniquely positioned to thrive in cross-cultural and international productions, with a style that bridges cultures and connects diverse audiences.

I come from a background in Broadcast Journalism and Public Relations, and I've hosted numerous corporate events, celebrations, and original YouTube content.

I gravitate toward formats like The Real, Chef & My Fridge, and Salon Drip—shows that mix personality with pop culture, style, and storytelling. While I can speak up on debatable issues, I love keeping things light-hearted, fun, and emotionally resonant.

EXPERIENCE, SKILLS & STRENGTHS

- Hosted corporate galas, internal corporate functions and live on-camera themed celebrations
- YouTube content creator (original lifestyle and hosting segments)
- Relatable communication with diverse audiences
- Corporate and entertainment professionalism
- Comfortable in international, multilingual settings (Fluent in English; conversational Swahili; learning Korean)
- Former PR Executive working with Unilever brands (Knorr, Royco, Lifebuoy)

AMBITIONS & HOSTING INTERESTS

- Host or co-host a recurring entertainment/lifestyle series, similar to The Real or Chef & My Fridge that mix celebrity, fashion, food, play, and flair
- Collaborate on international productions that celebrate African culture and talent on a global stage
- Open to voiceover, commercial or music video appearances, and Korean/USA/UK media crossovers
- Eventually relocate to South Korea and expand my hosting career within their entertainment industry
- Entertainment Talk, Variety, Travel, Cooking, Culture Crossover shows, Red Carpet & Award Show coverage, Corporate Galas & Business Events
