

We are Stephy and Dani, a Colombian-Venezuelan musical duo, couple, and creative team based in Miami. Both graduates of Berklee College of Music with backgrounds in Contemporary Writing & Production and Music Production & Engineering, we are multi-instrumentalists, vocalists, composers, and producers with a passion for Latin pop, contemporary music, and cross-genre collaborations. Together, we have built a career performing, recording, and producing for a diverse range of projects—both in the studio and on stage—while also developing our own creative work as a duo. Our relationship began as best friends in college and has evolved into a unique artistic and personal partnership, marked by strong chemistry, creative synergy, and an ability to connect with audiences. Whether collaborating with Grammy-winning artists, performing at special events, or creating original music, we bring dedication, authenticity, and joy to every project we take on—together.
