SKILLS	Working on a professional film set for the first time was a challenging yet rewarding experience. I quickly adapted, developing strong problem-solving and time management skills. The role required extensive preparation, including mastering an Iranian accent, learning chess, and memorising all my lines. Through this, I gained resilience and adaptability. My experience playing soccer taught me the value of teamwork, clear communication, and collaboration under pressure, skills that I continue to apply in creative and professional settings. I'm amazing with kids, and I also have my food safety license.
