____ Any changes in my enrollment may affect my financial aid. I am required to attend the courses for which I am enrolled. I understand it is my responsibility to notify Campus if I need to drop a class or withdraw from the program.

____ Amounts for federal aid are determined by the information I provided on my FAFSA. Amounts shown may be adjusted if this information is found to be inaccurate.

____ I understand that if the information provided on my FAFSA has changed significantly, I may request an appeal through my financial aid administrator to reflect my current income or circumstances.

____ Financial aid and/or payments will need to be adjusted if enrolled credits are different at the end of the add/drop period than those shown above. Credits may be adjusted by the student (adding or dropping classes) or the institution (based on class availability and scheduling). Financial Aid Need Analysis and Definitions

This section provides an overview of the Cost of Attendance for a single academic year spanning nine months and explains the methodology behind the calculation of the student's aid eligibility.

The figures presented here do not reflect the actual payments made for the program, as further clarified below.

Monthly Expenses	Living w/ parent	Not living w/ parent
Tuition	Actual	Actual
Housing		$1,691
Food	$1,315	$837
Personal/Misc.	$460	$563
Transportation	$202	$221

The Cost of Attendance is an approximation of the student's educational expenses over the enrollment period. Financial aid eligibility is determined by assessing the individual need of each student. To ascertain this, students are required to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which calculates the Student Aid Index (SAI). This calculation is based on student and/or parent income, assets, and other tax and demographic information. The SAI is deducted from the Cost of Attendance and the resulting balance represents the student's financial need. Additional details on the financial aid process can be found in the Campus catalog.

Credit balance: A Title IV credit balance refers to federal funds received that exceed the total charges for a term, such as Federal Pell Grants, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG), and Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans. If a credit balance exists, students have the option to either hold the balance on their account or receive the funds.

If you choose to hold the Title IV credit balance, the surplus funds will be retained to offset future school charges (e.g., tuition and fees) in a subsequent term. If you do not choose to receive the credit balance, it will automatically be held on your account for use in future terms. If you do not complete the election form, the credit balance will be held on your account. You can still access the election form anytime to change your decision.

If you elect to receive the credit balance, the funds will be disbursed to you, which could result in an outstanding balance due in a subsequent term, depending on future charges.

This election remains in effect for the entire duration of your enrolled program. It is voluntary, and you have the right to revoke it at any time by submitting written notice to the financial aid office. Please note that rescinding the election is not retroactive and only applies to future Title IV credit balances.

Any Title IV credit balance remaining on your account at the end of the award year (the end of the Spring term) or upon your graduation will be automatically refunded to you, even if you had previously elected to hold the credit balance for future charges.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP): To maintain eligibility for enrollment and financial aid, students must meet SAP standards: 1) Maintain a minimum GPA of at least a 2.0. 2) Successfully complete at least 67% of the courses attempted 3) Complete the degree within 150% of the program's length. Failure to meet SAP standards may result in the loss of financial aid and possible dismissal from the program.

Campus believes that students should not have to go into debt to get a great education. The tuition costs at Campus are lower than comparable programs and most students are able to cover tuition with little to no out-of-pocket costs.
