Hello, hello, happy whateverday you read this!

A hint of me: I love being around people, & making them laugh is such a treat, even if it's at my expense. My quick wit has gotten me attention from an early age, including being on a first-name basis with my Jr. High principal (among others since). Ok, maybe that's not the BEST "attention," but no one has ever gotten hurt from my shenanigans! One of my earliest recollections of non-family praise was from my fifth-grade teacher. During my whole 9-week tenure in that school, she thanked me for helping keep her sane. I was too young to know what she meant, but I have appreciated it since I learned. Life isn't all kittens, rainbows, & bacon, but negativity gets you nowhere, so find the 'positive,' even in not-so-good events, & share it!

I love the outdoors. I am an avid cyclist & kayaker with above-average fitness & endurance levels. My short rides average 40 miles, & I've done six 200-mile, 1-day rides. I can run when being chased by a dog, bear, evil spirit, or meandering axe murderer, but I love my wheels.

Designing & building custom vehicles & wood+metal art pieces & projects are passions. Being a designer to the core with a keen memory, I can quickly troubleshoot & adjust on-the-fly. Collaborating with others is always welcome to get the best resolution since I know that my way may not always be the best just because it's my idea.

I can shoot without my glasses if preferred.

I reside near Charlotte, NC, & with being self-employed, I have a fairly flexible schedule.

Please let me know how I can help you to work together making great memories for many people on both sides of the cameras, & our Couch Potato Peeps, aka viewers!

Thank you very much for your time & consideration. I look forward to proceeding soon.

(We'll see if my name sticks like The Rock, Madonna, & Zendaya. 😊)
